Railway Situation at Winnipeg—Hon. Edward Blake—Our Penitentiary.

The Poisoning Mystery—Mr. Mowat in Active Practice—New Bank Issue.

Special to THE TIMES.]

Winnipeg, Nov. 3—There were no developments of a warlike character at the front yesterday. The Government forces went on track-laying and the ties are now laid to Headingly, while the track is laid for over a mile. Mounted infantry are still kept at the crossing by the C. P. R.

Hon. Edward Blake, accompanied by his two sons, arrived in the city from the west last evening in the private car "Champlain." They were met at the station by the Lieutenant-Governor, who drove them to the government house. The party left by the regular train at 6 o'clock.

EASTERN PROVINCES.

Terribly Gored by a Buffalo—New Westminster Penitentiary.

Special to THE TIMES.]

Ottawa, Nov. 3—Mr. Moylan, Inspector of penitentiaries, was interviewed to-day on his return from a visit of inspection to the New Westminster and Manitoba penitentiaries, and the Regina jail. In regard to the institution at New Westminster, Mr. Moylan stated the discipline was excellent and the administration carried on with due regard to economy. The penitentiary property has been enormously enhanced in value during the past ten years, almost five hundred per cent., through the instrumentality of convict labor judiciously employed. Crime in British Columbia has greatly decreased.

Galt, Nov. 3—The coroner's inquest into the poisoning of Meta Cherry, by means of candy sent through the mails, was resumed to-night and further adjourned until the 30th of November, there being no evidence to take. The mystery appears to be as far from solution as ever.

Toronto, Nov. 3—Hon. Oliver Mowat is about to resume active practice and will appear in several cases which are to be heard at coming sittings of the Supreme Court, but he states that he does not mean that he has any thoughts of relinquishing his official position.

The Ontario bank has issued a new circulation of $5 and $10 bills, to be followed by $20 and $50 bills. The main object sought in the engraving is protection against forgery.

The Ontario Gazette to-morrow will contain a notice proclaiming Thursday, 15th November, as Thanksgiving Day.

Quebec, Nov. 3—Lieut. Pelletier, of B Battery, has been terribly gored by a buffalo, which came from the northwest and was kept in the citadel.

OUR MUSICAL COLUMN.

Opposition Musical Societies—Objections to the Opera Il Trovatore.

Last Wednesday's practice of the Choral Society was a most gratifying and encouraging success to the committee. Between 40 and 50 persons were present and a large number have signified their intention of being present next week, in consequence of the announcement of the committee that the time for those wishing to become charter members would be extended 'till the 1st of Dec. That is a most judicious act on their part and will not fail to bring in a large number of singers, who have been too tired from their exertions at the recent Moody meetings and other engagements who will now have more time to spare.

Demi Semi Quaver would urge upon all those who desire to become members to join the society next week. Do not wait until the last day; there is lots of work to be done and none can afford to lose a single rehearsal.

Altogether the choral society is fairly on the way to success. Let the management act with energy, yet with caution, and there will be no fear for the success. With such an energetic conductor and a committee composed of such men as, G. Jay, C. E. Redfern, D. W. Morrow and others, the business and musical portion will be attended to, but regular attendance should be a sacred duty with each member, also promptness in being there. Professor Sharpe starts at eight and if members will keep dragging in until nearly nine it keeps the rehearsal back and is discouraging to the conductor.

Every member of the society should endeavor to bring his or her musical friend with them, and thus do something for the society.

Demi Semi Quaver has been informed that an effort is being made to form an Operatic Society in Victoria and that rehearsals have already begun on "Ermine." There is nothing would please Demi Semi Quaver better than a good operatic society established in Victoria, but for one reason, viz: There is already a society in working order capable of producing an opera if so desired, and if the society or parties rehearsing in Waitt's rooms are so constituted and would condescend to amalgamate with the Choral Society, much more good would be done. Victoria cannot stand two societies at present and it is certainly a surprise to the music-loving people of Victoria to find one of her best musicians creating a division amongst singers by doing his best to keep vocalists from becoming members of the Choral Society.

Opera has certainly an attraction for certain classes of people, over "oratorio," but it is expected that in a short time the Choral Society will be able to begin the rehearsal on some opera and thus provide music attractive to all its members.

The letter of a "Lover of Opera" will be found in another column. He complains that "Il Trovatore," "Bohemian Girl" and "Faust" are hackneyed to Victoria audiences and suggests if agreeable to the management of the Abbott Company to change the programme, and gives another suggestion that the "Mignon" is more suitable, being fresh and bright and new to most lovers of opera. Demi Semi Quaver would like to know how many of Victoria's lovers of opera have heard "Il Trovatore" twice, and if they think that the beauties of that opera can be exhausted in two performances. The same thing can be said of the "Bohemian Girl" and "Faust." It is over two years since Emma Abbot was in Victoria and this charming lady has improved wonderfully since then, and she has now the strongest company of vocalists with her that has ever been on the Pacific coast, and if a "Lover of Opera" wishes to hear "Il Trovatore," "Bohemian Girl" and "Faust" rendered as he never did outside of London, England, he had better book himself at Waitt's for those three nights.

A musical event of the highest order was given last Monday evening in Philharmonic Hall by the First Presbyterian Church choir under the direction of their talented conductor, Mr. J. G. Brown. They were assisted by the best musical talent the city could produce.

Owing to other attractions a comparatively small audience assembled to hear a very fine programme. Indeed the programme was worthy of any of the choir concerts in our large cities east, and reflects great credit on the choir for their enterprise in giving such music to the public.

Since Mr. Brown has taken charge of this choir they have been making stride after stride of advancement, and last Monday night's concert was the best effort yet. The choruses by the choir were very well rendered excepting the chorus "Where art thou beam of light." The choir seemed shaky from the first, their attack being very weak and their shading very defective. Demi Semi Quaver would give Mr. Brown a few words of advice. Train your choir to look at the conductor and not have their heads buried in their music, and you will find it ever so much easier for yourself and the singing will be improved.

Mrs. Turnbull was not well and did not do herself justice in her song "At the Ferry." She always sings very acceptably, but last Monday did not sing as well as usual. Mr. Kinnaird sang Verdi's "Tempest of the Heart" in very fine style. He seemed in better voice than we have heard him and his selection did him great credit. Professor Sharpe delighted the audience with a rendition of popular airs on the piano such as is seldom heard in Victoria. Every time he plays but adds to his reputation as a musician. "Tell Me Oh Bird," sang very nicely indeed by Mrs. Harris, received an enthusiastic encore, but the accompaniment was not by any means well played and placed Mrs. Harris at a disadvantage. "Anchored," by Lieut.-Colonel Prior, was rather disappointing. He has a grand voice and at times the carefull training would show forth, but his upper notes were not clear. He received an encore but did not respond. A quartette by Messrs. Grant, Meston, Ledingham and Brown was an agreeable surprise. The voices blend nicely and this quartette ought to keep together and give the public some more of that kind of music. But, gentlemen, there is no necessity for making such terrible faces over it.

Mr. Robson, in the second part, sang in a magnificent manner "The Death of Nelson," and had to respond to a tremendous encore. Miss O'Neill sang very sweetly and with great taste "The Angel at the Window." Indeed, Demi Semi Quaver has never heard this lady sing so acceptably before. A genuine treat was provided by Messrs. Robson and Brown, [illegible] ity of the voices being perfect, Mr. Robson's strong tenor voice having a tendency at times to overpower Mr. Brown's baritone. Towards the latter part of the duet the singers did not keep strict time but this was the most enjoyable item on the programme. They responded to a vociferous encore by singing "Albion on thy fertile Plains," which was even better than the first. My compliments, Messrs. R. & B., give us some more. The piano solo by Prof. Strauss was a marvelous exhibition of his power. He is simply a master of the instrument, and nothing more can be said. He had to respond to a decided encore. Mr. Brown then sang, "The Village Blacksmith." This is Mr. Brown's masterpiece. There is no piece written where he has more room to show his fine voice and his ability to express sentiment contained in song as in this piece and it was really grand. He responded to an encore by singing, "True Till Death." "God Save the Queen" brought one of the finest programmes ever presented to Victoria audience to a close.

With the committee of the choir D. S. Q. is angry. They had a nice little social after the concert to which all singers and others taking part were invited, but the press and Demi Semi Quaver were left out, and after lingering in the hall to see if anyone would ask a hungry stranger to partake, had to go home and denounce you all as unchristian. Give us an invite to your next, or woe betide you.

DEMI SEMI QUAVER.

ABBOTT'S OPERA.

To THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

DEAR SIR,—May I suggest to the management of the Abbott Opera Company that a change in the programme for the coming opera season would prove highly acceptable to the lovers of opera in this city. We are seldom found with such a fine musical combination as this, indeed, we very rarely have grand opera at all, but when we do it is almost invariably "Il Trovatore," "The Bohemian Girl" or "Faust." That they are fine operas and have drawn immense audiences in their time, no one will deny, but they are now somewhat hackneyed and a very large number, if not the majority of Victoria opera goers, must have seen them over and over again. I should like to see the substitution at least of "Mignon" in place of say "Il Trovatore," as I believe it has not been given in Victoria as yet. The music is fully as bright and tuneful as any of the operas above mentioned and would, I am sure, prove quite as great an attraction as the "Rose of Castile," if not more so. If the management see their way to make this change they will, I am sure, have no cause to regret it. Hoping to see this suggestion acted upon,

A LOVER OF OPERA.

Victoria, Nov. 2.

A Warning.

The modes of death's approach are various, and statistics show conclusively that more persons die from diseases of the throat and lungs than any other. It is probable that everyone, without exception, receives vast numbers of tubercle germs into the system and when these germs fall upon suitable soil they start into life and develop, at first slowly and is shown by a slight tickling sensation in the throat and if allowed to continue their ravages they extend to the head, causing catarrh. Now all this is dangerous and if allowed to proceed will in time cause death. At the onset you must act with promptness; allowing a cold to go without attention is dangerous and may lose you your life. As soon as you feel that something is wrong with your throat, lungs or nostrils, obtain a bottle of Boschee's German Syrup. It will give you immediate relief.

TO-DAY'S DISPATCHES.

The Chinese Interpreter Will Probably be Continued—The Sackville-West Tempest.

Something New in Telegraphy—King Christian's Reign—In Supreme Court.

Ottawa, Nov. 3—Before taking action with regard to the removal of the Chinese Interpreter from Victoria the department will see what effect the Chinese Exclusion Billl in the United States will have on Chinese immigration into Canada. It appears from recent returns to the department that a large majority of Chinese entering Canada of late have landed at Vancouver. The necessity of keeping the interpreter at either port depends on the trade of the future; but no doubt owing to the large Chinese trade done at Victoria an intrepreter of some kind will have to be kept at that place.

WOMEN VOTERS.

New York, Nov. 3—Mrs. Cynthia Leonard, of the equal rights party for Mayor of this city, has obtained an order from Judge Barrett of the Supreme Court compelling the inspectors to appear on Monday and show cause why a peremptory mandamus should not be issued compelling them to receive her vote on Tuesday. She claims that the constitution of the United States makes no distinction between the sex in the matter of voting and that the New York state constitution seeks unjustly to violate this provision by limiting the vote to male voters.

DEMAND ON HAYTI.

Washington, Nov. 4—Commodore Harmony, acting secretary to the navy, states that when the Boston reaches Hayti, a demand will probably be made upon that Government for the restoration of the American steamer Haytian Republic, which was seized by them as a blockade runner.

SUBMITTED TO SUPREME COURT.

Ottawa, Nov. 3—The Railway Committee of the Privy Council to-day submitted the case in the Manitoba railway dispute to the Supreme Court and asked the Judges to decide whether the Manitoba Legislature had power to grant a charter to the Northern Pacific Railway Co., to cross the tracks of the Canadian Pacific.

M'ALLISTER WELL AGAIN.

San Francisco, Nov. 3—Hall McAllister, the well known attorney of this city, who was reported so dangerously ill in New York, has returned to this city much improved.

A FATAL RUNAWAY.

CZAR AND CZARINA HURT.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 3—The official messenger states that the Czar's foot and the Czarina's hand were injured in the accident to the imperial train on Monday.

KING CHRISTIAN'S REIGN.

MINISTER RECALLED.

Berlin, Nov. 3.—The report is confirmed that Schloeger Irussiom, minister at the Vatican, has been recalled.

£70,000 LOST.

A decision has just been rendered by which the Bank of England loses £70,000 through cashing bills with forged indorsements.

SOMETHING NEW IN TELEGRAPHY.

New York, Nov. 3—D. Harris, of Washington, is the inventor of a new system of machine telegraphy by which messages are printed at the further end, the sending instrument being somewhat of a typewriter. It is claimed the machine is able to send two hundrnd words a minute and will revolutionize telegraphy.

WHEAT MARKET.

Liverpool, Nov. 3 — Wheat firmer; holders offered moderately; California 8s 2d.

Chicago, Nov. 3—The wheat market was firmer to-day until the last three-quarters of an hour when it broke nearly three cents and closed weak. November, 111⅝; December, 113⅛; May, 114.

New York, Nov. 3—Wheat quiet, November, 109¾; December, 111⅝; May, 118⅛.

DECK LOAD LOST.

Shanghai, Nov. 3—The Bark Sarah Seidgway, from Tacoma, W. T., has arrived with the loss of the deck load and several sails.

CAPTAIN O'SHEA'S EVIDENCE.

London, Nov. 2—The sensation which the Tories believed would be made by the revelations of Captain O'Shea on the witness stand has fallen very far short of their expectations. The Captain's testimony was given with apparent fairness and is really favorable to Mr. Parnell in regard to the charges that the Irish leader possessed a full or even partial knowledge of the outrages committed in Ireland or those contemplated. The most interesting items of the witness's testimony to those behind the scenes, was his emphatic statement that he severed his confidence in the aid of friendship for Mr. Parnell in June, 1886, a statement which can and will be totally refuted. The fact is undeniable that the reporter who will be called to the witness box in due time, interviewed Mr. Parnell in Captain O'Shea's house in December, 1886, and the date of that interview will be forthcoming. At other times the Captain's recollection of the facts and dates become somewhat confused, but on the whole he made a very creditable showing as a truthful witness, considering the trying circumstances of his being confronted with conflicting memoranda in the presence of the man he was giving testimony against.

London, Nov. 3.—Capt. O'Shea has written a letter in reply to one written by Harcourt which states that he will not imitate Harcourt in discussing evidence given under oath.

EMPRESS FREDERICK TO VISIT WINDSOR

London, Nov. 2—The Prince of Wales will meet Empress Frederick, his sister, at Queensborough, Nov. 17th, and conduct her to Windsor.

RIOT AT MIDDLETON.

A serious riot occurred at Middleton, County Cork, last evening. A man under arrest was rescued from the police by a mob. The latter were severely stoned, and finally driven into a shop, where they were besieged until the arrival of reinforcements. Several of the police were severely injured.

THE EVICTION CRY ABSURD.

Mr. Balfour, in a speech at Wolverhampton to-night, said that crime in Ireland had been reduced almost to the level of 1881. The outcry against evictions, he said, was absurd. More than one hundred thousand persons were evicted in New York every year and no comment occasioned.

GLADSTONE TO SPEAK.

It is expected that Gladstone will speak at Birmingham next week. This is regarded as an important occasion as marking the final severance of the Whigs from the Radical Liberal party.

AN IRISH FARMER SHOT DEAD.

Dublin, Nov. 2—A farmer named Patrick Gilligan was shot dead near Athlone to-day. The crime grew out of agrarian disputes. Four arrests were made.

DIRECT NEWS FROM STANLEY.

Zanzibar, Nov. 2.—Couriers who have arrived here from Sabora bring direct news from the Stanley expedition, a portion of which, according to the couriers, was met at the end of November, 1887, by Arab traders at a point west of Nyanza and southeast of Sanga. Stanley had fought with tribes which had refused to furnish him with provisions. He and a majority of his escort had been attacked with fever and compelled to halt. When the couriers left the expedition Stanley was well. He had decided to strike a course to the northward in order to avoid the swamps, and then proceed eastward to Wadelai, at which place he hoped to arrive about the middle of Jaunary. The couriers, who are Arabs, estimate the strength of the expedition, after the losses maintained, at 250 men, and express the belief that they will be able to reach Wadelai.

AUSTRIA'S ARMY.

Vienna, Nov. 2—The new Austrian military bill maintains the war footing of the army at 800,000 men. It is provided also that the landwehr will assist in the field, and the landstrum serve on garrison duty and local defence, when necessary, for the next decade. Provision is also made for extensive recruiting to augment the landwehr.

THE FEVER RECORD.

Jacksonville, Nov. 2—There were 23 new cases reported to-day and three deaths. Of the new cases ten are white.

HELD FOR PERJURY.

Chicago, Nov. 2—Robt. D. Fowler, a well-known Board of Trade member, and a millionaire, was held to the criminal court to-day on a charge of perjury.

PARNELLISM AND CRIME.

London Turned Into a Sort of Texas—Whisky and Revolvers.

London, Nov. 2—The Kavanagh-Cox affair yesterday has caused a tremendous sensation in Parnellite circles, and has also stirred up considerable feeling among the Tories. The examination of Kavanagh in the police court to-day has proved the reckless manner in which the Times has gone about obtaining evidence to sustain its case, as well as the disregard of such shown by its agents either upon their own or their employer's account. The witnesses in the case showed conclusively that even workmen were paid £4 per week, a greater sum than they ever had in their lives, to remain in London and answer to their names when called in the witness box, and the testimony altogether shows that the witnesses bought, including the prisoner Kavanagh, are of a kind not to be believed under oath if their antecedents are known.

The Evening Star (Parnellite) heads its report of the Kavanagh-Cox examination, "Walterism and Crime," and accuses the Times of flooding London with human refuse in expectation of being allowed to disgrace the courts with that sort of witnesses in its behalf. London, the Star asserts, has been turned into a sort of Texas and Fleet street at the expense of the Times. It is infested in the debating rooms and taverns with scoundrels carrying revolvers and filled with strange oaths and whiskey. The admission of Cox that he could not or would not make under oath before the commission the statement he made to his employers, agents of the Times, upon which his subpoena was based, has led a great many persons to believe that the Times' case is founded upon a conglomeration of falsehood, hearsay, suspicion and expectation, which under the searching light of cross-examination and the burning heat of reason, will crumble to dust and precipitate the entire fabric into an abyss of mendacity together with its builders.

Kavanagh who fired a revolver at Cox in a tavern opposite the law court was brought up for examination to-day and remanded. Both men are witnesses waiting to give evidence before the Parnell commission.

Wedding Bells.

Among the arrivals by to-day's train from Nanaimo were Dr. W. W. Walkem and bride who were married at the Black Diamond city. The ceremony took place at 7:30 o'clock this morning at the residence of S. H. Smith, Esq., collector of customs, the bride being Miss Minnie Brown. The Rev. Jas. Miller performed the ceremony. THE TIMES, with the genial doctor's many friends takes this opportunity of wishing himself and his bride happiness and prosperity. They are registered at the Driard.

Divorce Case.

His Lordship, Justice Gray, attended the Supreme court yesterday afternoon and granted a rule nisi dissolving the marriage in the divorce suit of A. E. Haynes versus Mary Haynes, nee Francis. The evidence of Chief Stewart of Vancouver, and Officer Levin of this city, was taken, and the officers were complimented on the straightforward manner in which they gave testimony. The defendant was not present.

WORKING UP A CONSTITUENCY.

The Vancouver News gives a full and not unsatisfactory explanation of the "arrangement" at the recent sale of public lands in that city, but with an eye to the till and the little white stream of public silver which the Provincial Secretary pours in there, the case is made to appear as favorable as possible for that official. The News, of course, is a rather independent paper and professes "not to enjoy the confidence of the Government," (for reasons which it is not necessary to explain) but at the same time its editorial conscience is reached by the advertising route just as easily as the other little hirelings of lesser light. This is unfortunate, because in no place in British Columbia is a thoroughly independent, fearless newspaper wanted worse than in the growing city of Vancouver, a paper that is not wearing some collar or other beside that of the public who support it. The News may succeed in convincing the people of Vancouver that the Provincial Secretary is the political cherub which it indirectly pictures him to be, but in the end it will perhaps learn that he can play the Judas Iscariot act on Vancouver just as readily as he did it upon New Westminster when it suited his interests to do so. He has lived for many years in the Royal City and Victoria and is known by every man in these places. It does not say much for him that he should subsidize papers to work up a constituency for him where his record is not known.

MANITOBA RAILWAY WAR.

When the Ottawa Government broke the monopoly clause of the C. P. R. charter a few months ago it was generally thought that the prairies of the west were forever relieved from a long and acrimonious struggle. It is the Ottawa Government that should bear all the blame for this renewed agitation, for had they been honest in their intention and sincerely anxious to remove all grounds for complaint, there would not have been any loophole left whereby obstructions could have been placed in the way of the construction of provincial railways. The Canadian Pacific Railway, as a corporation, is entitled to use every legitimate endeavor to restrain the construction of competing lines, and thus far they have acted strictly within the powers granted them by charter and by acts of parliament. The federal authorities left the company a means whereby they could act, else the scenes now taking place in Manitoba would never have occurred. Should matters come to a serious collision between an excited people and the enforcers of the law, the blame must rest on the heads of the Cabinet. The people of Manitoba have been bravely contending for that which, with suggestive unanimity, they conceive to be their rights, for a long time, and they are still as determined as ever to secure the object for which they have been fighting.

A NEW CRIME.

In England they are coming to pretty grim conclusions regarding pauper children. Says the latest number of the Pall Mall Gazette:

If a man and a woman are not fit to be trusted with the upbringing of their offspring they ought not to be allowed to have any children. The plain English of it is that the human pair who bring a child into the world for whom they cannot provide food, clothes and lodging are criminals and should be punished as such.

People, says the Ottawa Journal, who theorize that way should start first with the upper classes and ask themselves whether the abolition of enormous hereditary wealth and privileges would not make such a change for the good in the conditions of civilization as would abolish grinding poverty. We are not Socialists nor even Henry Georgeists, but when it comes to talking about considering as criminals poor people who bring children into the world, we would very much like to hear what objection there is to considering as criminals rich people who keep enormous wealth limited to their eldest sons. The income of the ten thousand richest families in England, if managed so as to merely leave these families in about the same comfort as average rich families, would give sufficient surplus to feed, clothe and educate a million poor children every year.

HIGH LICENSE.

There is still a great deal of discussion as to the efficiency of high license as a temperance measure. In Philadelphia, travelers tell us it is a success, infractions of the law being unknown, but this may perhaps be as much due to the penalty as to high license. Forfeiture of license is the penalty for the first offence. The Chicago correspondent of the Watchman says:

"Five years of high license have we now had in Chicago, and, while it is a success as a revenue measure, it is an undisguised failure as a temperance measure. It in no way checks the consumption of intoxicating liquors as a beverage, nor does it in the least degree lessen the evils of crime from such use. It may be true that in a city like Chicago the number of saloons may be reduced by a few hundred, but such a reduction from an aggregate of several thousand is scarce noticeable. Drunkenness and the petty, as well as grave, crimes resulting therefrom, receive no check from high license, and to urge it as a temperance measure or anti-saloon expedient is to attempt to commit a fraud on the community. Nor does high license give more decent saloons, if such places can claim any decency. The dives and dens, the barrel houses and thieves' resorts are as bad and frequent in this city to-day, after five years of high license, as they ever were. Call high license what it is, an easy way to raise a revenue from vice, but let there be an end of indorsing it as a temperance or a reform measure."

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Sir John says the liberals have worked commercial union and unrestricted reciprocity to death and now they have no cry. Oh yes they have. If they have no other they can go back to the simple creed "Turn the rascals out." As soon as we have had a few more rebellions there is some reason to believe the cry will be popular.

The News-Advertiser finds good reason for congratulating Vancouver on the fact that the collecting of duties on imports at Vancouver were double in last month what it was in the corresponding month last year. There was no cause on the other hand to attempt to cast a slur on Victoria. Our contemporary was probably not aware at the time that the increase at Victoria during the same time was half as great again as at its own city. While the increase at Vancouver was about $10,000, the increase at Victoria was $15,000, in other words the gain here was only $4,000 short of the total collection which our contemporary crows so much about. It is a mistake to think because Vancouver is going up-hill rapidly all other cities are going down. The fact is the whole province is going ahead with leaps and bounds. "Everybody get in and ride."

CITY AND PROVINCE.

—There are a number of varieties of corns. Holloway's Corn Cure will remove any of them. Call on your druggist and get a bottle at once.

—Do not delay in getting relief for the little folks. Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator is a pleasant and sure cure. If you love your child why do you let it suffer when a remedy is so near at hand?*

—Excellent reasons exist why Dr Thomas' Electric Oil should be used by persons troubled with affections of the throat or lungs, sores upon the skin, rheumatic pain, corns, bunions, or external injuries. The reasons are, that it is speedy, pure and unobjectionable, whether taken internally or applied outwardly.

—A Georgia snake story "grasps the bakery." It represents his snakeship as writhing in terrible agony. On killing and opening him the cause was found to be dyspepsia, two china eggs having been swallowed by mistake.

—A dilapidated physique may be built up and fortified against disease by that incomparable promoter of digestion and fertilizer of the blood, Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure. It counteracts billiousness and kidney complaints, overcomes bodily ailments special with the feebler sex, causes the bowels to act like clockwork, and is a safeguard against malaria and rheumatism. *

—It was the late Judge Thomas Russell, of Boston, whose wit was spontaneous, who once said that "Know all men by these presents" might be changed to "Know one woman by these presents," for if one woman knew it, all the rest of the world would.

—Miss Mary Campbell, Elm, writes: "After taking four bottles of Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure, I feel as if I were a new person. I had been troubled with dyspepsia for a number of years, and tried many remedies, but of no avail, until I used this celebrated Dyspeptic Cure." For all impurities of the blood, sick headache, liver and kidney complaints, costiveness, etc., it is the best medicine known. *

OUR OTTAWA LETTER.

The Walkem-Higgins Libel Suit—The Duty of the Press to Each Other.

The Fisheries and the B. C. Inspector—Provincial Accounts—Personal Gossip, &c.

(Special to The Times.)

Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 27—A case of some importance to readers of The Times and the result of which I telegraphed you, came up in the Supreme Court this week. It is that of Higgins vs. Walkem. Mr. Higgins was at one time proprietor of the Colonist newspaper, and Mr. Walkem was the Premier of British Columbia and a Supreme Court Judge of that province. The latter sued the former for a libel, said to be published in his newspaper. There are some peculiarities about the case, so far as it strikes one not conversant with the whole circumstance surrounding it, worth noticing. In the first place the libel arose out of the suit of Mitchell vs. McKenna, which was being tried at Ottawa. McKenna, in his evidence, so the Ottawa Free Press said, stated that there were six of them connected with the contract, meaning the dry dock contract, and "one of them was the Premier of British Columbia." The Victoria Post copied this item from the Free Press, and the Colonist took it from the Post, and added to the objectionable paragraph a few sentences, calling upon Mr. Walkem to deny the statement. It appears that Mr. Higgins admitted that there was no truth in the evidence as reported, but said that if he did not publish it then Mr. Walkem, who would never see it in the Post, would not get an opportunity to contradict it. At any rate it appeared, notwithstanding that Mr. Dunsmuir, who was along with Higgins in his sanctum at the time, objected to its publication. The result in the courts were against Mr. Higgins; and hence the appeal to the Supreme Court. The costs in the case will be heavy on the losing party, whoever that may be. Mr. Bodwell aided Mr. Robinson, Q. C., for the appellant, and Hon. S. H. Blake, Q. C., along with Mr. Mr. McGormully, of Ottawa, conducted the case for the respondent.

THE PRESS.

I was just thinking when the case was under progress the great necessity for journalists standing together in their own interests when any of their number are dragged into the courts, probably to satisfy the whimsical caprice of one individual or the bitter malignancy of another. Happily the instances are rare where a brother journalist turns his back on the profession and sides with the prosecutor. Rivalry in the trade or political feeling should never permit this. True enough there are cases where the journalist exceeds his duty, and probably out of malice may attack an opponent; but calmer moments will bring an ample apology, which generally satisfies the injured party. Journalists, too, have a duty they owe the public in guarding the people's interests, and particularly in such cases, when attacked by the money bags of the corrupt politician or bloated monopolist, should newspaper men prove loyal to each other. Although there was no public duty to serve in the publication of this item in the Colonist, which was admitted by the writer to be untrue and which, as Mr. McKenna says, was never repeated in court, yet I sympathize with Mr. Higgins. He must have imagined at the time that he was acting in some way in the public interest and not acting out of malice. But had this contract of the dry dock been a provincial work carried on by the local Government, and in a manner which was objectionable to a section of the people, then honest and vigorous, if you like, criticism was necessary. There are few public men, who are working for the good of the many, who will object to such criticism even if occasionally strong words are used. If they do, and should they enter the courts, then it is the bounden duty of the press men—I mean the press proper, not the hired organs, which must play the tunes they are bid—to be true to each other and the profession to which they belong. To the Colonist I extend my sympathy, and trust that it may in the end come out on top.

THE FISHERIES.

The Winnipeg train last evening carried along with it Mr. Mowat, Inspector of fisheries in British Columbia, and his young bride, who he brought from his native province New Brunswick. When down by the sea he made such arrangments as will send to the Pacific coast, early next summer, a transhipment of lobsters. An experiment has already been made, by carrying lobsters backwards and forwards for a week or more on the Intercolonial Railway to show that the scheme can be accomplished with success. All that is necessary is to pay particular attention to the temperature of the car, which will likely be built for this purpose. In conversation with Mr. Mowat I learned that as he was coming along the Intercolonial Railway there was snow to the depth of seven inches and in one place a freight train was snowbound. When in Ottawa Mr. Mowat had an interview with Hon. Charles Tupper, Minister of Marine and Fisheries—who by the way has been in very poor health for some time past—in regard to matters affecting his department in British Columbia. The heads of this department as well as that of the others, who have not had the opportunity of visiting our western province on the Pacific, should do so at once, as it would greatly assist them in controlling the various departments over which they preside.

PROVINCIAL ACCOUNTS.

The capital was favored with the presence of Hon. Mr. Mercer, Premier of Quebec, and some of his ministers and officials during the present week. At the same time we were honored with a visit from Hon. Oliver Mowat, Ontario's Premier, or as Sir John Macdonald calls him Canada's "Little Tyrant," along with Hon. A. M. Ross, Provincial treasurer and his secretary and auditor. Their business was to have finally settled the outstanding public accounts between the two provinces and the Dominion, which has been outstanding since confederation. The credit of Ontario, however, is away ahead of Quebec, notwithstanding the assistance already given by the Dominion. The Dominion is due Ontario something like $4,000,000 while Quebec will turn out to be considerably in debt to the Dominion. That is the difference between a progressive and a non progressive government. Mr. Mercier is a pure type of a French Canadian and a hustler in politics. In Quebec he has no equals, not even Mr. Chapleau. He is said to be a little unscrupulous but that adds to his prestige in Quebec rather than detracting from him. While he fights his political opponents in the field with an unsparing hand he can meet them in the parlor or in the bar for that matter, with the best of good nature and enter into the enjoyment of the occasion heartily. He has a dash and readiness about him which is very catching, and he—to know him once is to know him always. As an illustration of his style: [illegible] the accounts, when he said "I can't have [illegible] around me. I pull the trigger and let 'er go Gallagher. It will land somewhere." [illegible] days before all the accounts are settled. The delegations are in conference with Hon. Mr. Foster, Finance Minister; Mr. Courtney, Deputy-Minister of Finance, and Sir John Thompson, Minister of Justice.

PERSONAL MATTERS.

I had a pleasant chat with Sir Leonard Tilley, Lieut.-Governor of New Brunswick, who was here for two or three days this week. Canada's ex-Finance Minister, than whom a more pleasant and honorable gentleman does not exist, is failing fast. He seems to have given up thinking of politics and now enjoys that quiet rest which his position gives him. Tilley was too honest a man for the present administration. There were more able men than he—none better.

Sol. White, ex-M. P. P., Essex, a pronounced annexationist, and a staunch Conservative was here this week and does not fear to adhere to his annexation principles, which he says does not in any way affect his political opinions. Rabid Tories are very much disgusted with Mr. White as they would fain argue that outside of the Grit party there are no annexationists.

Among the visitors at Government House this week was Sir Alexander Campbell, Lieut.-Governor of Ontario, Hon. Mr. Mason, ex-Lieut.-Governor of Quebec, and Col. Goodenough, Inspector of Artillery in the Imperial Army.

The approaching marriage of Hon. E. Stanley, of the Grenadier Guards, eldest son of the Governor General, to Lady Alice Montague, daughter of the Duke of Manchester, is announced. One of the fiancee's sisters is the Duchess of Hamilton and another is the Countess of Gosford. It is understood that after the marriage Mr. Stanley and his young bride will come to Canada, and he will act as one of the aide-de-camps to his father.

The news telegraphed from Ottawa to some newspapers to the effect that Mr. A. M. Burgess, Deputy Minister of the Interior, and who was stricken down ill at Victoria this summer, was to be superannuated, is contradicted by Hon. Mr. Dewdney. As a matter of fact Mr. H. H. Smith, Land Commissioner, who was said to get his position, is better off now, having some $5,000 annually with expenses while as Deputy he would get only $3,200.

MISSION OF PICTURES.

DIVINE SERVICES IN THE BROOKLYN TABERNACLE.

American Cities Need Great Galleries of Paintings—Men of Wealth Should Build in the Place of Their Residence Thrones for American Art.

BROOKLYN, Oct. 28.—The Rev. T. De Witt Talmage, D. D., preached at the Tabernacle this morning. A vast congregation attended the service. The pastor expounded a chapter about the room of imagery in Ezekiel, after which the hymn beginning:

> Thine earthly Sabbaths, Lord, we love,
> But there's a nobler rest above, was sung. Professor Browne presided at the grand organ and rendered a concerto in B flat by Handel. The subject of Dr. Talmage's discourse was "The Divine Mission of Pictures." His text was Isaiah, chapter 2, parts of the twelfth and sixteen verses: "The day of the Lord of Hosts shall be upon all pleasant pictures." He said:

Pictures are by some relegated to the realm of the trivial, accidental, sentimental or worldly, but my text shows that God scrutinizes pictures, and whether they are good or bad, whether used for right or wrong purposes, is a matter of divine observation and arraignment.

That the artist's pencil and the engraver's knife have sometimes been made subservient to the kingdom of the bad is frankly admitted. After the ashes and scoria were removed from Herculaneum and Pompeii the walls of those cities discovered to the explorers a degradation in art which cannot be exaggerated. Satan and all his imps have always wanted the fingering of the easel; they would rather have possession of that than the art of printing, for types are not so potent and quick for evil as pictures. The powers of darkness think they have gained a triumph, and they have, when in some respectable parlor or public art gallery they can hang a canvas embarrassing to the good, but fascinating to the evil.

It is not in a spirit of prudery, but backed up by God's eternal truth, when I say that you have no right to hang in your art rooms or your dwelling house that which would be offensive to good people if the figures pictured were alive in your parlor and the guests of your household. A picture that you have to hang in a somewhat secluded place, or that in a public hall you cannot with a group of friends deliberately stand before and discuss, ought to have a knife stabbed into it at the top and cut clear through to the bottom and a stout finger thrust in on the right side, ripping clear through to the left. Pliny, the elder, lost his life by going near enough to see the inside of Vesuvius, and the further you can stand off from the burning crater of sin, the better. Never till the Books of the Last Day are opened shall we know what has been the dire harvest of evil pictorials and unbecoming art galleries. Despoil a man's imagination and he becomes a moral carcass. The shop windows of English and American cities in which the low theatres have sometimes hung long lines of brazen actors and actresses in style insulting to all propriety have made a broad path to death for multitudes of people. But so have all the other arts been at times suborned of evil. How has music been bedraggled! Is there any place so low down in dissoluteness that into it has not been carried David's harp and Handel's organ and Gottschalk's piano and Ole Bull's violin; and the flute, which though named after so insignificant a thing as the Sicilian eel, which has seven spots on the side like flute holes, yet for thousands of years has had an exalted mission. Architecture, born in the heart of Him who made the worlds, under its arches and across its floors what bacchanalian revelries have been enacted! It is not against any of these arts that they have been so led into captivity. What a poor world this would be if it were not for what my text calls "pleasant pictures!" I refer to your memory and mine when I ask if your knowledge of the Holy Scriptures has not been mightily augmented by the woodcuts or engravings in the old family Bible, which father and mother read out of, and laid on the table in the old homestead when you were boys and girls. The Bible scenes which we all carry in our minds were not gotten from the Bible typology, but from the Bible pictures. To prove the truth of it in my own case, the other day I took up the old family Bible which I inherited. Sure enough, what I have carried in my mind of Jacob's ladder was exactly the Bible engraving of Jacob's ladder; and so with Samson carrying off the gates of Gaza; Elisha restoring the Shunamite's son; the massacre of the innocents; Christ blessing little children; the crucifixion and the last judgment. My idea of all these is that of the old Bible engravings which I scanned before I could read a word. That is true with nine-tenths of you. If I could swing open the door of your foreheads I would find that you are walking picture galleries. The great intelligence abroad about the Bible did not come from the general reading of the book, for the majority of the people read it but little, if they read it at all; but all the sacred scenes have been put before the great masses, and not printer's ink, but the pictorial art, must have the credit of the achievement. First, painter's pencil for the favored few, and then engraver's plate or wood cut for millions on millions! What overwhelming commentary on the Bible, what re-enforcement for patriarchs, prophets, apostles and Christ, what distribution of scriptural knowledge of all nations, in the paintings and engravings therefrom of Holman Hunt's "Christ in the Temple," Paul Veronese's "Magdalen Washing the Feet of Christ," Raphael's "Michael, the Archangel," Albert Durer's "Dragon of the Apocalypse," Michael Angelo's "Plague of the Fiery Serpents;" Tintoret's "Flight into Egypt;" Rubens' "Descent from the Cross;" Leonardo Da Vinci's "Last Supper;" Claude's "Queen of Sheba;" Bellini's "Madonna at Milan;" Orcagna's "Last Judgment," and hundreds of miles of pictures if they were put in line, illustrating, displaying, dramatizing, irradiating Bible truths until the Scriptures are not today so much on paper as on canvas, not so much in ink as in all the colors of the spectrum. In 1833 forth from Strasburg, Germany, there came a child that was to eclipse in speed and boldness and grandeur anything and everything that the world had seen since the first color appeared on the sky at the creation, Paul Gustav Dora. At 11 years of age he published marvelous lithographs of his own. Saying nothing of what he did for Milton's "Paradise Lost," emblazoning it on the attention of the world, he takes up the Book of books, the monarch of literature, the Bible, and in his pictures, "The Creation of Light," "The Trial of Abraham's Faith," "The Burial of Sarah," "Joseph Sold by His Brethren," "The Brazen Serpent," "Boaz and Ruth," "David and Goliath," "The Transfiguration," "The Marriage in Cana," "Babylon Fallen," and 205 scriptural scenes in all, with a boldness and a grasp and almost supernatural afflatus that make the heart throb, and the brain reel, and the tears start, and the cheeks blanch, and the entire nature quake with the tremendous things of God and eternity and the dead. I actually staggered down the steps of the London Art gallery under the power of Dore's "Christ Leaving the Pretorium." Profess you to be a Christain man or woman, and see no divine mission in art, and acknowledge you no obligation either in thanks to God or man!

It is no more the word of God when put before us in printer's ink than by skillful laying on of colors, or designs on metal through incision of corrosion. What a lesson in morals was presented by Hogarth, the painter, in his two pictures, "The Rake's Progress" and "The Miser's Feast," and by Thomas Cole's engravings of the "Voyage of Human Life" and the "Course of Empire," and by "Turner's Slave Ship." God in art! Christ in art! Patriarchs, prophets and apostles in art! Angels in art! Heaven in art!

The world and the church ought to come to the higher appreciation of the divine mission of pictures, yet the authors of them have generally been left to semi-starvation. West, the great painter, toiled in unappreciation till, being a great skater, while on the ice he formed the acquaintance of Gen. Howe, of the English army, and through coming to admire West as a skater, they gradually came to appreciate as much that which he accomplished by his hand as by his heel. Poussin, the mighty painter, was pursued, and had nothing with which to defend himself against the mob but the artist's portfolio, which he held over his head to keep off the stones hurled at him. The pictures of Richard Wilson, of England, were sold for fabulous sums of money after his death, but the living painter was glad to get for his "Alcyone" a piece of Stilton cheese. From 1640 to 1648 there were 4,600 pictures willfully destroyed. In the reign of Queen Elizabeth it was the habit of some people to spend much of their time in knocking pictures to pieces. In the reign Charles the First it was ordered by parliament that all pictures of Christ be burnt. Painters were so badly treated and humiliated in the beginning of the Eighteenth century that they were lowered clear down out of the sublimity of their art, and obliged to give minute accounts of what they did with their colors, as a painter's bill which came to publication in Scotland in 1707 indicated. The painter had been touching up some old pictures in the church, and he sends in this itemized bill to the vestry: "To filling up a chink in the Red Sea and repairing the damages to Pharaoh's hosts;" "to a new pair of hands for Daniel in the lion's den, and a new set of teeth for the lioness;" "to repairing Nebuchadnezzar's beard;" "to giving a blush to the cheek of Eve on presenting the apple to Adam;" "to making a bridle for the Good Samaritan's horse, and mending one of his legs;" "to putting on a new handle on Moses' basket and fitting bulrushes, and adding more fuel to the fire in Nebuchadnezzar's furnace." So painters were humiliated clear down below the majesty of their art. The oldest picture in England, a portrait of Chaucer, though now of great value, was picked out of a lumber garret. Great were the trials of Quentin Matsys, who toiled on from blacksmith's anvil till as a painter he won wide recognition. The first missionaries to Mexico made the fatal mistake of destroying pictures, for the loss of which art and religion must ever lament. But why go so far back when in this year of our Lord 1888, and within twelve years of the Twentieth century, to be a painter, except in rare exceptions, means poverty and neglect? Poorly fed, poorly clad, poorly housed, because poorly appreciated! When I hear a man is a painter, I have two feelings: one of admiration for the greatness of his soul, and the other of commiseration for the needs of his body.

But so it has been in all departments of noble work. Some of the mightiest have been hardly bestead. Oliver Goldsmith had such a big patch on the coat over his left breast that when he went anywhere he kept his hat in his hand closely pressed over the patch. The world renowned Bishop Asbury had a salary of $64 a year. Painters are not the only ones who have endured the lack of appreciation. Let men of wealth take under their patronage the suffering men of art. They lift no complaint; they make no strike for higher wages. But with a keenness of nervous organization which almost always characterizes genius, these artists suffer more than any one but God can realize. There needs to be a concerted effort for the suffering artists of America, not sentimental discourse about what we owe to artists, but contracts that will give them a livelihood; for I am in full sympathy with the Christian farmer, who was very busy gathering his fall apples, and some one asked him to pray for a poor family, the father of which had broken his leg; and the busy farmer said: "I cannot stop now to pray, but you can go down into the cellar and get some corned beef and butter and eggs and potatoes; that is all I can do now." Artists may wish for our prayers, but they also want practical help from men who can give them work. You have heard scores of sermons for all other kinds of suffering men and women, but I think this is the first sermon ever preached that made a plea for the suffering men and women of American art. Their work is more true to nature and life than any of the masterpieces that have become immortal on the other side of the sea, but it is the fashion of Americans to mention foreign artists, and to know little or nothing about our own Copley, and Allston, and Inman, and Greenough and Kensett. Let the affluent fling out of their windows and into the back yard valueless daubs on canvas, and call in those splendid but unrewarded men, and tell them to adorn your walls, not only with that which shall please the taste, but enlarge the mind, and improve the morals, and save the souls of those who gaze upon them.

Brooklyn, and all other American cities, need great galleries of art, not only open annually for a few days on exhibition, but which shall stand open all the year round, and from early morning until 10 o'clock at night, and free to all who would come and go. What a preparation for the wear and tear of the day a five minutes' look in the morning at some picture that will open a door into some larger realm than that in which our population daily drudge! Or what a good thing the half hour of artistic opportunity on the way home in the evening from exhaustion that demands recuperation for mind and soul as well as body! Who will do for Brooklyn or the city where you live what W. W. Corcoran did for Washington, and what I am told John Wanamaker, by the donation of De Munkacsy's great picture "Christ before Pilate," is going to do for Philadelphia? Men of wealth, if you are too modest to build and endow such a place during your lifetime, why not go to your iron safe and take out your last will and testament, and make a codicil that shall build for the city of your residence, a throne for American art? Take some of that money that would otherwise spoil your children, and build an art gallery that shall associate your name forever, not only with the great masters of painting, who are gone, but with the great masters who are trying to live; and also win the admiration and love of tens of thousands of people, who, unable to have fine pictures of their own, would be advantaged by your benefaction. Build your own monuments, and not leave it to the whim of others. Some of the best people sleeping in Greenwood have no monuments at all, or some crumbling stones that in a few years will let the rain wash out name and epitaph; while some men, whose death was the abatement of a nuisance, have a pile of polished Aberdeen high enough for a king, and eulogium enough to embarrass a seraph. Oh, man of large wealth, instead of leaving to the whim of others your monumental commemoration and epitaphiology to be looked at when people are going to and fro at the burial of others, build right down in the heart of our great city, or the city where you live, an immense free reading room, or a free musical conservatory, or a free art gallery, the niches for sculpture and the walls abloom with the rise and fall of nations, and lessons of courage for the disheartened, and rest for the weary, and life for the dead; and one hundred and fifty years from now you will be wielding influences in this world for good among those whose great-grandfather was your great-grandchild. How much better than white marble, that chills you if you put your hand on it when you touch it in the cemetery, would be a monument in colors, in beaming eyes, in living possession, its splendors which under the chandelier would be glowing and warm, and looked at by strolling groups with catalogue in hand on the January night when the necropolis where the body sleeps is all snowed under. The tower of David was hung with one thousand dented shields of battle; but you, oh man of wealth, may have a grander tower named after you, one that shall be hung not with the symbols of carnage, but with the victories of that art which was so long ago recognized in my text as "pleasant pictures." Oh, the power of pictures! I cannot deride, as some have done, Cardinal Mazarin, who, when told that he must die, took his last walk through the art gallery of his palace, saying: "Must I quit all this! Look at that Titian! Look at that Correggio! Look at that deluge of Caracci! Farewell, dear pictures!" As the day of the Lord of Hosts, according to this text, will scrutinize the pictures, I implore all parents to see that in their households they have neither in book or newspaper or on canvas anything that will deprave. Pictures are no longer the exclusive possession of the affluent. There is not a respectable home in these cities that has not specimens of wood cut or steel engraving, if not of painting, and your whole family will feel the moral uplifting or depression. Have nothing on your wall or in books that will familiarize the young with scenes of cruelty or wassail; have only those sketches made by artists in elevated moods, and none of those scenes that seem the product of artistic delirium tremens. Pictures are not only a strong but a universal language. The human race is divided into almost as many languages as there are nations, but the pictures may speak to people of all tongues. Volapuk many have hoped, with little reason, would become a world wide language; but the pictorial is always a world wide language, and printer's types have no emphasis compared with it. We say that children are fond of pictures; but notice any man when he takes up a book, and you will see that the first thing that he looks at is the pictures. Have only those in your house that appeal to the better nature. One engraving has sometimes decided an eternal destiny. Under the title of fine arts there have come here from France a class of pictures which elaborate argument has tried to prove irreproachable. They would disgrace a bar room; and they need to be confiscated. Your children will carry the pictures of their father's house with them clear on to the grave, and, passing that marble pillar, will take them through eternity.

Furthermore, let all reformers, and all Sabbath school teachers, and all Christian workers realize that if they would be effective for good they must make pictures, if not by chalk on blackboards, or kindergarten designs, or by pencil on canvas, then by words. Arguments are soon forgotten, but pictures, whether in language or in colors, are what produce strongest effects. Christ was always telling what a thing was like, and his Sermon on the Mount was a great picture gallery, beginning with a sketch of a "city on a hill that cannot be hid," and ending with a tempest beating against two houses, one on the rock and the other on the sand. The parable of the prodigal son, a picture; parable of the sower, who went forth to sow, a picture; parable of the unmerciful servant, a picture; parable of the ten virgins, a picture; parable of the talents, a picture. The world wants pictures, and the appetite begins with the child, who consents to go early to bed if the mother will sit beside him and rehearse a story, which is only a picture. When we see how much has been accomplished in secular directions by pictures—Shakespeare's tragedies a picture, Victor Hugo's writings all pictures, John Ruskin's and Tennyson's and Longfellow's works all pictures—why not enlist, as far as possible, for our churches and schools and reformatory work and evangelistic endeavor, the power of thought that can be put into word pictures, if not pictures in color? Yes, why not all young men draw for themselves on paper, with pen or pencil, their coming career, of virtue if they prefer that, of vice if they prefer that? After making the picture, put it on the wall, or paste it on the fly leaf of some favorite book, that you may have it before you. I read the other day of a man who had been executed for murder, and the jailer found afterward a picture made on the wall of the cell by the assassin's own hand, a picture of a flight of stairs. On the lowest step he had written: "Disobedience of parents;" on the second: "Sabbath Breaking;" on the third: "Drunkenness and gambling;" on the fourth: "Murder," and on the fifth and top step: "A gallows." If that man had made that picture before he took the first step, he never would have taken any of them. Oh, man, make another picture, a bright picture, an evangelical picture, and I will help you make it! I suggest six steps for this flight of stairs. On the first step write the words, "A nature changed by the Holy Ghost and washed in the blood of the Lamb;" on the second step, "Industry and good companionship;" on the third step, "A Christian home with a family altar;" on the fourth step, "Ever widening usefulness;" on the fifth step, "A glorious departure from this world;" on the sixth step, "Heaven! heaven! heaven!" Write it three times, and let the letters of the one word be made up of banners, the second of coronets, and the third of thrones! Promise me that you will do that, and I will promise to meet you on the sixth step, if the Lord will, through his pardoning grace, bring me there, too.

And here I am going to say a word of cheer to people who have never had a word of consolation on that subject. There are men and women in this world by hundreds of thousands, and some of them are here today, who have a fine natural taste, and yet all their lives that taste has been suppressed; and although they could appreciate the galleries of Dresden and Vienna and Naples far more than nine hundred and ninety-nine out of one thousand who visit them, they never may go, for they must support their households, and bread and schooling for their children are of more importance than pictures. Though fond of music, they are compelled to live amid discord, and though fond of architecture they dwell in clumsy abodes, and though appreciative of all that engravings and paintings can do, they are in perpetual deprivation. You are going, after you get on the sixth step of that stairs just spoken of, to find yourselves in the royal gallery of the universe, the concentered splendors of all worlds before your transported vision. In some way all the thrilling scenes through which we and the Church of God have passed in our earthly state will be pictured or brought to mind. At the cyclorama of Gettysburg, which we had in Brooklyn, one day a blind man, who lost his sight in that battle, was with his child heard talking while standing before that picture. The blind man said to the daughter: "Are there at the right of the picture some regiments marching up a hill?" "Yes," she said. "Well," said the blind man, "is there a general on horseback leading them on?" "Yes," she said. "Well, is there rushing down on these men a cavalry charge?" "Yes," was the reply. "And do there seem to be many dying and dead?" "Yes," was the answer. "Well, now, do you see a shell from the woods bursting near the wheel of a cannon?" "Yes," she said. "Stop right there!" said the blind man. "That is the last thing I ever saw on earth! What a time it was, Jenny, when I lost my eyesight!" But when you, who have found life a hard battle, a very Gettysburg, shall stand in the royal gallery of heaven, and with your new vision begin to see and understand that which in your earthly blindness you could not see at all, you will point out to your celestial comrades, perhaps to your own dear children who have gone before, the scenes of the earthly conflicts in which you participated, saying: "There from that hill of prosperity I was driven back; in that valley of humiliation I was wounded. There I lost my eyesight. That was the way the world looked when I last saw it. But what a grand thing to get celestial vision, and stand here before the cyclorama of all worlds while the Rider on the white horse goes on 'conquering and to conquer,' the moon under his feet and the stars of heaven for his tiara!

It will be remembered that Lord Ennismore left for the north some time ago on a hunting expedition. On reaching Rivers Inlet he became ill and returned to Victoria on the Boscowitz. By the time the steamer arrived here he was very ill, the fever having been on him for ten days, and he has since been in a critical condition. Dr. Hannington is attending on him.

Change of Time.

The C. P. N. Co.'s steamer Princess Louise will leave for New Westminster in future on Tuesday mornings at eight o'clock, instead of nine as formerly. Travelers will do well to remember that the early bird catches the boat, otherwise they will awake on Tuesday mornings to find that they have been left.

Young Men's Meeting.

There will be a meeting for men at the rooms of the Young Men's Christian Association to-morrow afternoon at 4 o'clock. Rev. J. W. Wadman will give a gospel talk and there will be singing by a choir of young men. The aim will be to make these services of interest to young men and a cordial invitation is extended to them to be present

An Objection Taken.

A man, not quite responsible, made himself obnoxious at Mr. Moody's meeting in Vancouver the other evening. The party referred to took umbrage at a remark which fell from the lips of the speaker and went as far as to raise from his seat and to request the reporters to note down his objection to it. There is a heavy penalty for disturbing public meetings of any kind which men who are inclined to "get full" and go to these places would do well to remember.

Death of a Young Man.

The residents of Port Townsend were much saddened on Friday morning to learn of the death of Charles Hammond, eldest son of T. M. Hammond of that city. Deceased was an old time resident of Port Townsend in which place he spent his entire life. At the time of his death the young man was 35 years old. Harry Hammond, telegraph operator in this city, was informed of his brother's death yesterday morning and left on the Olympian for his home.

Presidential Election.

A gentleman of this city received the following letter from the interior of B. C.: "If General Harrison is elected I suppose you will know it by Thursday, Nov. 8th, at 4 or 5 o'clock p. m. In case he is send me a telegram of ten words something like this to show which of the following doubtful States he has carried: Harrison, Indiana, New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, Virginia, West Virginia. If Cleveland carries the election don't telegraph as I will see it soon enough in the papers."

Fatal Neglect.

The breaking of the smallest wheel in a mammoth factory, if not repaired or replaced, will ruin the entire plant, as a speck of dust will derange the delicate machinery of a watch. Were people as thoughtful to repair their broken health on the first approach of disease, as the owner is to mend his machinery, they would escape indescribable suffering, and often death. Slight causes will sometimes derange the digestive organs, on whose healthy action the health of the whole system so much depends, and feverish blood, headaches, and consumption itself, set in. The wise person will at once arrest the cause of these unhealthy symptoms, resorting to that world-famed remedy, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which purifies the blood and cures liver disease. Of all druggists.

KOOTENAY LAKE COUNTRY.

Mining Prospects—Climate—Facilities for Travel, Etc.

Mr. C. W. Busk, C. E., returned to the city last evening from the Kootenay district, where he has been engaged since last August in a mining survey. Calling at that gentleman's office, Burnes' block, our reporter was received courteously by Mr. Busk, when the following interview took place:

Q.—What is the present route to the Kootenay Lake district?

A.—Taking the Northern Pacific railway from Tacoma to a small station called Kootenay, a few miles east of Sand Point, thence some 30 miles by road to Kootenay river, and the Hendryx steamboat to the lake, and up the outlet to Nelson. That's the easiest and most expeditious route at present.

Q.—Which are the principal mines in the district you visited?

A.—On the west shore of the lake at Warm Springs we have the mines of Wheeler & Brant, "Let 'er go, Gallagher," the "Crayloo," "Little Donald," and the rich quartz mines of G. B. Wright, "No. 1." In these mines is found a very rich vein of galena on the lower limestone ledges and mica schist with high deposit of silver, above red carbonate ores, rich also in silver. On the opposite shore of Golden Bay there is the "Blue Bell." These mines lie back from the shores from one and a half to two miles, at an elevation of from 1100 to 2500 feet. Down the outlet, about six miles are the Toad Mountain mines, near the town site of Nelson. The elevation is about 4000 feet above the lake. They are rich in high grey copper and in silver. There is also native copper. Further down the stream, beyond the point of navigation at Eagle Creek, there is very promising indications of gold quartz. This (exhibiting a large lump of ore where native gold was seen cropping out) is from a fine vein laying between black granite, low silver quartz, and this carbonate ore. The vein has been traced 300 feet on the surface; it crops up all over and widens to two feet at a depth of 25 feet. The owners are going to run a tunnel in hopes of striking the vein. The principal mines on the outlet are, "Tough Nut," "Bonanza," "Silver King," Hall's "American Flag," "Dandy" "Iroquoise," "Jim Crow," "Phoenix" and several others, which have not been properly tested. The Hendryx Bros., Hall, G. B. Wright and others ship large quantities of their ore to Butte. There should be means taken to open up this rich district by the erection of test mills and other mining appliances.

Q.—What would be the best way to to open up the district?

A.—By the construction of a railway from Revelstoke down the Columbia valley, and Arrowhead Lake, about 100 miles. Messrs. Hendryx are going to build a new steamer for the Kootenay; it is to be 500 tons burthen. They are a very enterprising firm, and have built a wharf at Nelson and spent a large amount of money otherwise in the district. The Kootenay Valley Co. are building the canal. The widening of the outlet will relieve the southern branch of the Kootenay from overflow and will reclaim the rich bottom lands. The climate during my stay was pleasant. The winter is said to be cold and short. The grass of the valley is very rich, and produces the finest beef I have ever eaten.

Q.—How is Nelson progressing?

A.—In the two camps there are about 150 people. The town proper has two stores, a very good boarding house and saloon, but no post office. This latter want causes a great deal of inconvenience to the people and ought to be remedied. There is a post office of course at Cranbrooke, on the Columbia, where Col. Baker, M. P. P., resides, but it is almost inaccessible to the people of Nelson. Some mines have changed hands recently. A Mr. Cullam, a lawyer from Minneapolis, bought out "Cedar Creek," at Warm Spring, and has already shipped a considerable quantity of ore to Butte. The richest ore is Mr. G. B. Wright's "No. 1," where this splendid quartz came from. There will be many of the owners and bonders of the mines mentioned down in a few months. I will gladly afford any information I can about the district to anyone enquiring. The present prospects are very promising and Nelson may be looked upon as the future Denver of British Columbia. All that is needed is a little push and the necessary government assistance to open up the country, which in its present state is of little use to the Province or the Dominion, all its trade going southwards. Provisions are not very dear; flour $7.50 per 100 pounds, canned stuff, of which there is a large quantity used, being the most expensive. I intend to return in the spring and in the meantime my collection of specimens are open to the public. Experts who have seen them pronounce them very rich. I would not be far wrong in saying that the Kootenay Lake district will lead, at no distant day, in the mining industry of the country. All that is wanted is the opening up of a route through our own territory. The incentive once given the place would go ahead like wild fire. It is a magnificent hunting country and many tourists and sportsmen have visited it this season.

CALEDONIAN SOCIETY.

The Election of Officers for the Ensuing Year.

At the annual meeting of St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society, held last evening, the following officers were elected for the ensuing term: His Worship Mayor Grant, President; Robert Mitchell and Robert McIntosh, Vice-Presidents; John Ross, Secretary; John Boyd, Assistant Secretary; Donald McKay, Treasurer; Board of Directors: A. J. Smith, chairman, R. P. Rithet, John Robertson, W. A. Robertson, W. Lorrimer, John Boyd and Geo. Webb; Piper, John Kennedy; Poet, James Deans; Warden, Thomas Gorrie. The annual dinner will be held on St. Andrews day, Nov. 29th. The veteran Treasurer, Donald McKay, has held that position in the Society for twenty years and was re-elected last night.

Hack Driver Injured.

D. J. McDonald, driver for Geo. Winter, was injured last night by a runaway team. The horses attached to Mr. Winter's hack became unmanageable near the White Horse saloon on Humboldt street. The driver was thrown from his seat and by some means caught his foot in the springs. The horses tore along Humboldt street dragging the man underneath the hack and were stopped opposite the Windsor Hotel, on Government street. McDonald was taken from beneath the hack and carried into the hotel. Dr. Hamilton Griffin was found in his room and immediately attended to the injured man. An examination proved that he was not seriously injured although his face and body were badly bruised and cut. He is much better to-day and will be around in a short time.

Rochester Comedy Company.

The matinee this afternoon was fairly well patronized by ladies and children, and the play was given in a most creditable manner. The Dolls Quadrille was a great novelty and greatly pleased the audience. This evening Fun on the Bristol will be given. Joseph Bistoli and Daniel Polk, formerly of the Spanish students, will appear and will give selections on the mandolin, guitar and other instruments.

FROM NEW WESTMINSTER.

No More Smallpox—Fell from a Tower—Drowned.

[Special to THE TIMES.]

New Westminster, Nov. 3—Latest advices from the settlement infected with smallpox near the international boundary are to the effect that all the patients now are convalescent, and no new cases reported. Dr. McLean and his assistant wish to return home, but Dr. Bently, a provincial health officer, says they must remain there twenty-one days after all patients have recovered.

Two days ago a weight attached to the machinery of the bell in the convent tower fell and crashed through the first floor and knocked down the ceiling in a room in the lower storey. Fortunately no person sustained bodily injury.

On Wednesday last the seven-year-old son of Mr. Hagman, a resident of North Arm, disappeared from the house and all search for him proved fruitless until yesterday when his body was discovered lying in the river under three feet of water, a short distance from the late home. The supposition is that the boy slid from the bank into the river and there being a quantity of brush at the margin of the stream he was unable to help himself and was drowned. The remains were brought up to the city to-day for interment.

OUT OF THE ICE.

Escape of the Whalers Caught in the Arctic Sea.

A San Francisco dispatch of yesterday states that the steam whaler, Thresher, had arrived in port with the joyful news that all of the thirteen whalers which had been caught in the ice in the Arctic, on the 23rd of September, had escaped into the open water. On the 2nd of October, nine days after the ice closed in on them, the long-delayed gale that was to prove their salvation, sprang up from the northwest. The nine days were, however, unmarked by any incident, the ice closing in gradually about them, and new ice forming in the open water in which they had taken refuge. The 500 men, in fact, were reconciled to a winter season in the Arctic until the gale came. The wind blew with increasing violence through the night of the 2nd, and on the morning of the 3d the ice-field showed signs of breaking toward the south. The whaling captains were all alert for a chance to get towards open water to the south, and, taking advantage of every opening, all but the Eliza and Reindeer got out on the 3d. The latter succeeded in getting out on the following day. The catch of the Arctic fleet is placed at 154 whales.

San Francisco, Nov. 3—Following the arrival of the three whalers of the Arctic fleet last night the whaling steamer J. H. Freeman, bark John P. West, and two others came into port this morning. It is expected the whole fleet will be in in a few days.

Five more arrived this afternoon and it is now believed that all will be in before night is over. Every one incoming shows signs of being forced through the ice; some of them being badly damaged.

POLICE COURT.

(Before City Police Magistrate Richards, Q. C.)

Ah Pon, charged with stealing $20 from Guie Hee. J. P. Walls appeared for the defence. The case was remanded until Tuesday and prisoner allowed out on bail in the sum of $150.

David Craigie, on remand, charged with stealing grain sacks.

Supt. Sheppard said Mr. Rithet promised to send the boy to Australia on the bark Nanaimo which would sail next week.

Mrs. Craigie was present and said she would ship the boy next week.

Craigie was allowed to leave the court with his mother and was told by His Honor to leave the country to avoid arrest.

Looking for a Route.

W. Halpanny and party left at 4 o'clock this afternoon for Alberni, from whence they will proceed to the head of Cameron Lake to make a preliminary survey of the new telegraph line to the signal station at Bonilla Point or Cape Beale. The distance to be explored is between fifty and sixty miles, and the journey will take about three weeks if there are no snow storms to interfere. From Cameron Lake connection will be made with Nanaimo along the wagon road. Mr. Halpanny is of opinion that a feasible route can be found to Bonilla Point in this direction and upon his report future action will be taken by the Government.

Marine Notes.

H. M. S. Espeigle sailed from Vancouver for Nanaimo yesterday.

The steamer Umatilla will lay up for a while and go in the dry-dock at the Union Iron Works, San Francisco.

The Newsboy, the seventh vessel chartered by the R. C. P. Mills Co, is loading lumber at Westminster for Australia.
